

It is always an incredible experience sharing with couples in one of the greatest days of their lives. Much like our films themselves, the privilege of creating a timeless, cinematic showcase that allows brides and grooms to re-live every detail of their amazing day is a gift that will last a lifetime.

At Moontage Films, we put our whole heart into every single film we create. Our consistent ability to produce stunning visual narratives has always been our hallmark. Capturing your day how it ought to be remembered is our deepest passion. As you give yourselves to each other, we will give all we have to you. That is our vow.

"Moontage had our highlight video customized with our song choices and shipped to us in a matter of weeks with excellent editing (we didn't need any changes made at all!!!)."

- Charlene + Matt from Yelp.com

"This was by far one of the best decisions we made and we're so happy with the final product."

Jamie + Larry from Weddingwire.com

"I LOVE his work! Its very high quality & reasonable. He was very accommodating and patient with any last minute changes, and always had a smile in his voice."

Filming Your Wedding

Post-Production

Telling the story of your wedding day is a deeply personal experience for both of us. To ensure that we get your event exactly right we like to begin the process with an initial interview. During this time, we will get more acquainted with each other and learn more about all that you have planned for your special day. By the time we are with you filming. We want you to feel like you are in the company of friends.

Every wedding is quite unique. As a result, we carefully plan every intricate detail of how we will approach your wedding well in advance. Everything from the overall style of your film down to the audio and lighting logistics will be customized to meet the specific needs of your event with as much or as little input from you as you would like.

When your day is finally here, the last thing you want to worry about is the filming. It is for the reason we have designed our stand of the process so that we will have already met with our crew to walk through and prepare for every nuanced detail of your event. Once the event begins, our team is committed to capturing every moment with elegance and skill.

Few realize that the vast of majority of our work begins after the actual wedding day. We work swiftly employing the lastest hardware and software in the film industry to achieve a striking and cinematic quality few knew was even possible. Your wedding film is composed, colored, polished, and delivered within 2 months after your event.
