Meet Keri

Every wedding session includes a two person team. Keri will always be present, and she will bring one of her incredible second shooters along.

My photography is a unique reflection of who I am. I want you to absolutely love your wedding photos. To that end, here is a bit about my style. I'm team light and moody. My tones trend toward golden and natural. I don't adhere to photographic trends, I believe that photographs should be timeless.

My background is in professional theatre which has greatly influenced my artistic point of view. When there isn't a camera in my hand, there is usually a cup of coffee.

My love for weddings is a tangible and living thing. It is fed by all that inspires me from the pages of a great story, a desire for beautiful things, and a slight desire to live in a dream world.

Let's grab a cup of coffee and chat about your love story. I promise to be spellbound.

How to Tell If We're a Match

You and your partner are stupid in love with each other. Like, can't take your eyes off of each other, no one else exists, in love.

2 You love a black and white photo as much, if not more, than a color photo. Bonus points if you're into anything vintage.

You don't enjoy overly pose-y images. You like it when the couples look natural and you're a big fan of raw emotion and close, intimate moments.

You want a photographer that focuses on the details so that you can focus on each other.

Keri and Matt were so much fun to work with. They continually made us laugh and enjoy getting our pictures taken even though neither my husband nor myself like to be in front of the camera.

The Engagement Session

We believe in the power of an engagement session. We so strongly recommend these sessions that we include them, free of charge, with all of our wedding packages. You may be wondering, however, why you need one.

the perfect Engagement sessions are opportunity for you to get comfortable in front of the camera, to show off that sparkler, and to make sure that we vibe. I will also teach you some trips and tricks during your engagement session that will save us time on your wedding day. Engagement sessions tend to last about an hour which is almost triple the time we'll have together for your portraits on your wedding day, so it is the perfect opportunity for me to learn more about your love story as well.

It is also the first look that your wedding guests will get of the wedding which will follow. Make sure you give them something to talk about.

Where are you located? Do you travel?

My home base is in Stafford, VA. I LOVE to travel. The first 25 miles are free, after that a small travel fee will be applied.

How long can you be booked?

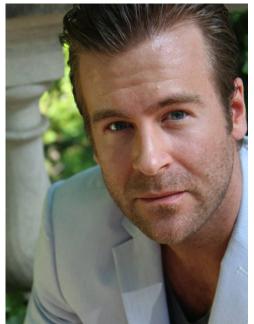

I have packages ranging from 4 hours of coverage to a full day. There is a package for every bride in every situation. We can also custom build your package because every bride and their needs are different.

How do you manage the deposit and payment?

A 30% deposit holds your wedding date in my calendar. That deposit is non-refundable. Remainder of your full payment is due 2 weeks before your wedding date. If you would like to break payments up into smaller chunks, we can absolutely do that, but I will need to know that before I send your contract and quote.

Frequently Asked Questions

How many pictures of our wedding will we get?

You will receive all of the edited images from your wedding day. I usually deliver about 50 images per hour. All photos will be sorted in your online gallery for ease of access.

When will our photos be available?

Your photos will be edited and returned within eight weeks of your wedding date.

Can we get a sneak peek?

Absolutely! Within a week of your wedding a blog post will be up on our website with 10-15 images of your day.

How far should we book in advance?

Many couples book us more than 7 months in advance, but there are also some spontaneous requests. The truth is that the earlier you book your photographer, the better your chances of your date still being available. Contact your photographer as soon as your date is set.

Set Your Date

Reach out to me to make sure that your wedding date is available. In that communication I will also be asking you which package you are interested in pursuing, and we will talk about any additional needs for your big day. Please ask any questions you have at this time.

After I know the needs of your day I will send along a personalized contract and quote. Signature of your contract and a 30% deposit are required to hold your wedding date in our calendar. Once I've received both of those things we'll go ahead and schedule your engagemetn session!

Schedule Our Coffee Date

About a month before your big day we'll sit down and discuss all of the finer details of your big day. This is when we'll go over timeline, color schemes, and must have shots.. This is also an opportunity for you to ask any questions about the wedding day that you have.
