ABOUT JESSIE

My Story

You may be wondering how and why I chose to become a wedding videographer. Well, here's a little bit about my background.

From a young age growing up in Boston, I always loved to film and document life. I first began creating home videos of my family with my dad's camcorder in 3rd grade and loved making silly videos with my friends. I still have boxes full of High 8 and Mini DV tapes in my closet. After earning degrees in Media Communications and Spanish at North Carolina State University in 2004, I began my career in video production working as an editor and camera operator on a cooking show in Raleigh, NC.

In 2005, I followed a group of college friends and moved to Charleston to be close to the beach. I fell in love with this city and knew this was where I would be for the rest of my life. I began working at Litton Entertainment as a full-time editor and producer on multiple nationally televised docu-reality TV series, while also freelance editing weddings and other videos for various production companies around the Carolinas.

In 2011, I founded Palmetto Coast Media and began offering a wide range of videography services for weddings, events, TV series, businesses, nonprofits, and much more. As the demand for wedding videography grew, I decided to create a second entity that focused solely on wedding videos, while continuing the commercial side of videography through Palmetto Coast Media. In the spring of 2020, I rebranded and launched Palmetto Wedding Films. Since filming our first wedding in 2011 (initially under the name Palmetto Coast Media), we have served over 160 couples in SC, NC, GA and beyond. It has been so much fun getting to know so many different couples, spending the day filming every precious moment, and creating beautiful videos so they can relive their wedding day over and over.

When I'm not preparing for, filming, or editing a video, I enjoy spending time with my husband David and our dogs, cruising around Folly Creek on our boat, kayaking, paddle boarding, going to the beach, traveling and enjoying all the delicious cuisines and cocktails Charleston has to offer.

I am SO excited to see what the rest of this year has in store and can't wait to continue to serve more amazing couples so they can relive the most memorable day of their lives!

WEDDING pricing

Charleston, South Carolina has served as a breathtaking backdrop for weddings across generations. Historic buildings, incredible sunsets, lush trees, and amazing views of the water combine for a truly one-of-a-kind spot to host your wedding. Palmetto Wedding Films is based in this wonderful city that we are proud to call home. Since 2011, we have skillfully preserved the wedding day memories of dozens of Charleston-area couples.

After over a decade of filming weddings, we noticed that we weren't able to capture the most memorable moments in less than 8 hours, so we chose to have an 8 hour minimum for all wedding videography packages. What we recommend is that you reserve your date with an 8 hour package and when we get closer to your wedding day we can review your timeline and discuss adding on more hours if you decide to have more moments of your wedding day captured.

Kind WORDS

Here's what our couples are saying about us.

There is one word to describe Jessie, the PWF team and the work we received from her and that is FLAWLESS. From the second we booked her we had a feeling it would be effortless ...Not only is her work perfection working WITH her was so easy and fun. Communication was so smooth and simple- EVEN through the postponement. If you book with Jessie and PWF's you're not only getting amazing work and supporting a wonderful small business you're working with humans.

Tori

Palmetto Wedding Films, the people behind the camera captured all of the best moments from the day! Thank you for all that you did to make our day so incredible and leading up to the wedding being absolutely awesome to work with. It is our pleasure to recommend Palmetto Wedding Films - all my friends now want to renew their vows in Charleston specifically so that you can be their videographer! Thank you so much Jessie - Luke and I could not be happier and cherish this forever. :)"

Michelle

We could not be happier with the videos they produced, especially at the very reasonable cost! Jessie and Matt braved the rain with us and took full advantage of every gap in the weather to make what could have been a limited outdoor day, a day full of sprinkled smiles. They went above and beyond our expectations. We are so thankful we chose Palmetto Wedding Films because Jessie and Matt perfectly captured our day in a way we can re-live over and over. Can you give 6 stars?"

Lauren

Walking into your wedding day without any worries is the best feeling when you know you have vendors who will take care of you and your forever memories. For us that forever memory was created by Jessie and her team at Palmetto Wedding Films. The video Mike and I received highlighted every amazing moment from our day. From the laughs to the tears, in addition to all of our wedding fine details, Jessie and her team captured them all.

Lindsay

A picture may be worth a thousand words but a video from Palmetto Wedding Films is worth a million! Booking Jessie and her team was hands down the best decision we ever made for our wedding. Throughout the entire process, Jessie was there for us by answering all of our questions, helping us create a timeline, and guiding us through filming on the day of our wedding. We were completely blown away with the end result of our wedding summary and highlight video.
