Having two videographers during your wedding day will help to capture multiple angles for your films. We can record on the wide-angle lens and close-up lens at the same time. Also, this will ensure that there is less of a chance for something to be missed in the footage, for example, the groom's reaction when he sees the bride for the first time. One videographer can stay with the bride during the getting ready, second with the groom. During the cocktail hours, one can stay with the bride and groom, and second with the guests and record some interviews and have fun.
