FAQ's: How to Order, Payments, Date Availability, and More!

“How do I order a wedding package?”

The wedding package ordering process is very simple. Once you have looked over the package brochure and have determined which package is your favorite, you can go online to www.robertanthonyflorist.com, click “Shop Weddings,” and then click the button that says “Request a Consultation.” You will be asked to fill out a brief consultation request form with some information about your wedding, and then you will submit the form. The form will be sent over to our wedding specialist, who will then call and email you to set up a consultation appointment time that works for your schedule. During this free consultation appointment, you will be able to discuss with our wedding specialist what package you would like to order, what colors you want to use in your package, and you can ask any questions you may have about your wedding flower needs.

“When can I order a wedding package?”

If you are getting married during peak wedding season (March-May, and September-November), we recommend ordering your wedding flower package no later than four months in advance. We can sometimes provide wedding packages within a shorter time frame than this for peak season, but these months do book up quickly, so we encourage couples to order their flowers at least four months ahead of time for the busiest wedding months. If you are getting married in the off season (December-February, and June-August), we recommend ordering no later than one month in advance. We cannot accept wedding orders any later than one month in advance.

“How does payment work for a wedding package?”

When you place your wedding flower order with Robert Anthony Florist, 20% of your wedding flower total sum is due at the time of placing your order. You may continue to make payments up until 30 days before your wedding date, at which time your wedding order must be paid in full.

“Are there any wedding package ‘blockout’ dates?”

Wedding packages are not available from January 20th through February 20th, and from April 25th through May 15th.

“I like the packages, but I have something a little different in mind for my wedding. Do you also design custom weddings?”

Yes, yes, and yes! We can—and do!—design custom weddings to match any couple’s style. We recommend ordering custom weddings at least five months before your chosen wedding date.

“I am allergic to a flower that is in a package I like. Can you substitute a different flower in the package?”

Yes, we can suggest substitutionary flowers for your package if you have allergies to a flower featured in the pre-designed package.
