Hi, I'm Catalina

I've been in the industry since 2009, working for various nonprofits, museums, and higher education institutions in the Greater Boston area. Throughout that time, I gained valuable connections with industry-leading experts and vendors, and developed creative ways to extract the most value from any budget - guaranteeing that the events I produce are filled with unforgettable moments that are rooted in community.

My professional background in, and personal passion for, art, design, and philanthropy permeates my life - between volunteering, mentoring up-and-coming artists, and supporting small and sustainable businesses.

I love to travel internationally and locally - exploring new dining spots, galleries, and speakeasies around Boston and beyond. I'm also a miniaturist, you might see me selling my minis at art shows around New England!
