VIDEOGRAPHY

When you think back on your wedding day, what do you want to remember?

You'll remember the main elements - when you were announced as newlyweds, your first kiss, everyone surrounding you on the dance floor...but you know your day will be made up of so much more, too.

There's the epic toast your best friend gave...the sight of your family members wiping away tears as you made your way down the aisle...the hugs and pure joy shared between you and all the people you love throughout the day, in the way only they can express.

Now think about how amazing it will be to actually see those moments happening all over again - and to have those unique memories captured for all time.

That's the experience you'll get when you choose Limelight to capture your wedding day.
